Corporations are working to ensure that learning is aligned with business objectives and is meaningful for a diverse array of employees, with varying interests and needs. A strong culture of learning that is tied to your corporate objectives means that learning becomes the connective tissue between the high-level business mission and the employees charged with carrying it out.

Learning strategy that drives business results

Employees need to rapidly develop skills across a wide range of business and technology subjects, and need instant access to learning resources that can be trusted. Organizations need a learning solution that can meet the needs of all parts of the organization; can easily blend learning initiatives to tie in with corporate strategy and objectives; and can effectively balance with corporate IT infrastructure. SkillChoice™ learning solutions are designed to do exactly that.

SkillChoice solutions offer a vast array of learning options with instant access to thousands of learning assets. Whether it's solving an immediate IT need or building a well-rounded set of general business skills, SkillChoice solutions are the Simple choices. A world of learning.

“For companies that are serious about reducing cost and establishing an insurmountable competitive advantage of making the right decisions at the right time, making relevant information available to key employees is not an option, it’s an imperative.”

most powerful tools you can provide to support learning in the workplace, from formal learning programs to performance support needs that occur in the normal work flow.

SkillChoice provides your employees with access to a robust collection of online courses and simulations, full-text books by leading publishers, mentoring support, practice exams for professional certifications and more, delivered in an integrated fashion to ensure accessibility at the point of demand.

Breadth

The instructional materials provided by Leaderquest offer thorough coverage of the business, IT, and desktop subjects that drive today’s organizations. With SkillChoice, we have combined these collections into four simple and comprehensive packages that cover your organization’s spectrum of needs: SkillChoice Business, SkillChoice IT, SkillChoice Desktop and SkillChoice Complete. With courses, books, simulations, live mentors and more, our wide range of content types can support the variety of learning preferences in your organization. Whether it’s solving an immediate IT emergency or building a well-rounded set of general business skills, SkillChoice packages provide the full range of support.

Currency

To keep pace with the constant changes in business and technology, Leaderquest offers more new instructional resources each year than anyone in the e-learning industry, with thousands of new online books and courses released each year. With SkillChoice, you are entitled to all new courseware, books and other resources released in your subject area throughout your license. With the hosted SkillPort platform, these updates are automatic, ensuring that the latest in business ideas and technology advances are at your employees’ fingertips.

On-demand learning support

Using powerful search tools from Search-n-Learn, your learners can perform integrated searches across the broad range of resources and will be directed to the specific book page, SkillBrief summary, course topic or other tool they need for instant and relevant answers.

Formal learning support

With SkillChoice, you have access to the full range of instruction you need to develop robust blended learning programs that support your organization’s core competencies. We know that you can’t always predict the new skills and competencies that will become vital in the future as your business responds to changes or develops new strategic initiatives. But as new learning needs emerge within your organization, SkillChoice’s comprehensive coverage of subjects and content types allows you to pull from resources that are already available to rapidly build new programs that are aligned with your business.

Books24x7®

With just a few mouse clicks, users can instantly access and search across a broad collection of unabridged books from the world's leading authorities in business, technology and other fields. Powerful search technology helps learners rapidly pinpoint the most helpful books and narrow in on the most relevant chapters. By instantly pinpointing critical information for just-enough, just-in-time problem solving and learning, Books24x7 helps professionals across all disciplines bridge the gap between what they know and what they need to know to drive corporate initiatives.

Robust learning management

Included with all SkillChoice packages is the SkillPort® Software as a Service (SaaS) platform and hosting services from Skillsoft, providing a simple and flexible way to deliver learning programs to employees and partners. Along with the reliability and scalability you would expect from an enterprise platform, SkillPort offers Search & Learn®, giving learners instant access to specific, relevant resources at the time of need. Automatic content updates provide hosted SkillPort customers with new content as it is released for maximum currency and convenience.

Licensing SkillPort includes a new integrated offering that enhances the current SkillPort platform by adding the capability of a virtual classroom. The virtual classroom is delivered with the SkillPort platform, enabling training program managers the ability to run virtual training to round out their blended learning programs.

LMS flexibility

For customers that prefer to use a different learning management system, our courseware is certified to comply with AICC and SCORM integration standards and Leaderquest provides support for adapting your SkillChoice solution to your own LMS. Leaderquest also offers the Open Learning Services Architecture. Open Learning Services are a set of Web services designed to allow developers to integrate our content and services into their respective platforms. These capabilities include a fully-integrated search (Search & Learn), catalog management, mentoring, course catalog hierarchy, Learning Programs and support for KnowledgeCenters.

Simplicity

Configuring, using and maintaining your e-learning solution should not be all consuming for the learning organization, IT group or your employees. SkillChoice learning solutions have been thoughtfully packaged with content, tools, resources and updates to simplify choices and ensure results.

Affordability

SkillChoice solutions make it affordable to provide your employees with powerful tools to support learning in the workplace, from formal learning programs to spontaneous learning needs that occur in the normal workflow, with low cost per person, per resource. Additionally, because of the vast array of resources included with SkillChoice, you have the ability to provide mainstream subjects needed by all employees, along with niche technologies or business subjects that might otherwise not fit within your budget.

Driving results through the power of choice

Leveraging the combined business and IT resources of Leaderquest, SkillChoice offers the power to support and enhance the learning process, while simplifying the choices required in the constantly changing world of learning. Simplified choices and rapid access to learning when and how you need it help you to achieve maximum business results.
